Rediscovery Nov 25 2020 Wars scare people. But people are in Wars. Suffering their pains and losses, people invent their own stories about their surroundings and events. The main character of the REDISCOVERY novel reads the Columbus diaries trying to save his mind clear. From his trenches, he goes with Columbus to discover America again as his own Land of Promise.

The Demon of the Dusk Feb 21 2023 Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson are summoned to Theobald Grange, the Warwickshire home of Lady Heminworth. Being of a nervous and superstitious disposition, her Ladyship lives in fear. Her husband and elder son were recently murdered, apparently by the ghost of a court jester who was executed on the site centuries before. The apparition has warned that she, too, is to die. Holmes rejects a supernatural explanation, although his adversary seems unaffected by gunfire and is able to take flight and disappear. The Great Detective brings his powers to bear, but still the killings continue...

Dusk - Novel Jan 16 2020 Eve, the lone huntress, finds herself the reluctant heroine when she meets Vincent, a fledgling vampire who has found himself in a precarious situation. Their fate intertwines as they fight against the vicious onslaught of supernatural creatures seeking to destroy them.

Dusk or Dark or Dawn or Day Aug 03 2021 When her sister Patty died, Jenna blamed herself. When Jenna died, she blamed herself for that, too. Unfortunately Jenna died too soon. Living or dead, every soul is promised a certain amount of time, and when Jenna passed she found a heavy debt of time in her record. Unwilling to simply steal that time from the living, Jenna earns every day she leeches with volunteer work at a suicide prevention hotline. But something has come for the ghosts of New York, something beyond reason, beyond death, beyond hope; something that can bind ghosts to mirrors and make them do its bidding. Only Jenna stands in its way. Dusk or Dark or Dawn or Day is a new standalone urban fantasy novella from New York Times bestselling author Seanan McGuire. At the Publisher's request, this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software (DRM) applied.

Dusk Feb 09 2022 Dusk; what more is there to say? It's all I could ever despise, and it's all a part of me. At the end of the day they say that 'family is all that matters'. They must not know who mine are. My family are nothing good to me. There's no question in this matter; they've left me a curse. A one way ticket to death, and I can't even thank them for it. My enemies are far more powerful than me and they crave something. I don't know what they want, but I don't care. I've survived what my parents put me through so I'll survive them. All I need is to know what they want from me and then I can end this tiresome charade. In the darkness of night where I prowl there must be the answers that I seek. There must be something other than danger and lingering death. There must be hope in some capacity, or I may well be doomed. The truth won't let us escape.

At Dusk, Under the Clocks Jan 20 2023

The Beauty of Dusk Oct 17 2022 From New York Times columnist and bestselling author Frank Bruni comes a wise and moving memoir about aging, affliction, and optimism after partially losing his eyesight. One morning in late 2017, New York Times columnist Frank Bruni woke up with strangely blurred vision. He wondered at first if some goo or gunk had worked its way into his right eye. But this was no fleeting annoyance, no fixable inconvenience. Overnight, a rare stroke had cut off blood to one of his optic nerves, rendering him functionally blind in that eye—forever. And he soon learned from doctors that the same disorder could ravage his left eye, too. He could lose his sight altogether. In The Beauty of Dusk, Bruni hauntingly recounts his adjustment to this daunting reality, a medical and spiritual odyssey that involved not only reappraising his own priorities but also reaching out to, and gathering wisdom from, longtime friends and new acquaintances who had navigated their own traumas and afflictions. The result is a poignant, probing, and ultimately uplifting examination of the limits that all of us inevitably encounter, the lenses through which we choose to evaluate them and the tools we have for perseverance. Bruni's world blurred in one sense, as he experienced his first real inklings that the day isn't forever and that light inexorably fades, but sharpened in another. Confronting unexpected hardship, he felt more blessed than ever before. There was vision lost. There was also vision found.

A Rediscovered Faith Mar 18 2020 ***Purchase includes a free online course on faith*** What do you do when your newfound faith is challenged by those closest to you? Peter Daniel Young is about to find out. Convinced he was called by the good Lord to train to be a minister, Peter is caught in a poetic downpour driving back home again—the last place he ever thought he would end up. But soon after returning to his hometown, he is caught in the tension of his traditional parents, who are relentless with their questions; a brother who's hit rock-bottom, and has walked away from the Church; new friends, who offer him welcomed support for his new spiritual direction; and a conservative professor, who challenges his beliefs at every turn. More troublesome yet: Peter begins to question whether the reimagined faith he carefully constructed to save his Christianity was what he needed in the first place — and he finds himself wondering whether there might be something more to the faith he left behind. Picking up the story immediately at the end of A Reimagined Faith, J. A. Bouma weaves a fresh, insightful spiritual story of resonance and truth to help a new generation wrestle through deep questions of faith, life, and everything in between. With shades of John Greene's coming of age novels, combines with the poignance and insight of C. S. Lewis's Mere Christianity and John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, it is the book he wished he'd had and his parents had during his own crisis of faith. Whether you are facing your own faith crisis and wonder if Christianity is still relevant to your world, or you know of someone who is struggling themselves, discover along with Peter what why the old, old story of Jesus and his love still matters. For him, his family and friends, the Church — and for you.

Friends of the Dusk May 12 2022 When autumn storms blast Hereford, centuries-old human bones are found among the roots of a tree blown down on the city's Castle Green. But why have they been stolen? At the nearby Cathedral, another storm is building around a new, modernizing bishop who believes that if the Church is to survive it must phase out irrelevant archaic practices. Not good news for Merrily Watkins, consultant on the paranormal or, as it used to be known, diocesan exorcist. In the moody countryside on the edge of Wales, a rambling 12th-century house is thought to be haunted. Merrily's discovery of the house's links with the medieval legend of a man who resisted mortality threatens to expose the hidden history of a more modern cult and its trail of insidious abuse a trail that may not be closed.

The Rediscovery of the Wild Feb 15 2020 A compelling case for connecting with the wild, for our psychological and physical well-being and to flourish as a species We often enjoy the benefits of connecting with nearby, domesticated nature--a city park, a backyard garden. But this book makes the provocative case for the necessity of connecting with wild nature--untamed, unmanaged, not encompassed, self-organizing, and unencumbered and unmediated by technological artifice. We can love the wild. We can fear it. We are strengthened and nurtured by it. As a species, we came of age in a natural world far wilder than today's, and much of the need for wildness still exists within us, body and mind. The Rediscovery of the Wild considers ways to engage with the wild, protect it, and recover it--for our psychological and physical well-being and to flourish as a species. The contributors offer a range of perspectives on the wild, discussing such topics as the evolutionary underpinnings of our need for the wild; the wild within, including the primal passions of sexuality and aggression; birding as a portal to wildness; children's fascination with wild animals; wildness and psychological healing; the shifting baseline of what we consider wild; and the true work of conservation.

Trilby (Musaicum Rediscovered Classics) Dec 15 2019 Three English art students in Paris (Taffy, Laird, and William Bagot alias 'Little Billee') meet musicians Svengali and Gecko and the artist's model and laundress Trilby O'Ferrall. Trilby is cheerful, kindhearted, bohemian, and completely tone-deaf. Yet despite being off-key, her singing voice nonetheless has an impressive quality. The Englishmen and Trilby become friends. Svengali tries to persuade Trilby to let him train her voice, but she finds him repulsive and even frightening. She and Little Billee fall in love, but his scandalized relatives get her to promise to leave him. She leaves Paris with her little brother, who later dies of scarlet fever. Trilby then falls under Svengali's influence. He hypnotises her and transforms her into a diva, La Svengali. Under his spell, Trilby becomes a talented singer, performing always in an amnesiac trance. Five years later, Little Billee is a famous painter. He, Laird and Taffy recognise Trilby as she performs at a concert. Trilby sings beautifully but does not appear to be in good health. What will happen to Trilby now? Will she and Svengali have a happy ending? Read on!

Dusk Aug 15 2022 When he was entering into his 100th year, instead of feeling happy, Sundar felt quite irritated and sorrowful. He requested his granddaughter Rupa not to make any arrangements for the celebration of his birthday. Without bothering with his protestations, Rupa made the arrangements for the celebration of his birthday and made it a success. Sundar felt so much happy when his friend Somaraj a 96 years old man came to his home to stay with him for few days. But the way he was treated by his sons and daughter in laws was always a sorrowful thing not only to Somaraj but to Sundar also. When Sundar could manage to join Somaraj in Nischal Old-age Home which was indeed a happy home for the old people to stay, both Sundar and Somaraj felt so much happier. ' Nischal ' the owner and founder of Nishcal Old-age Home, even he was just forty six years aged guy, quite knowledgeable and understandable about old people and their problems. There are many old people staying in his old age home and all of them were quite happy to stay there because of the facilities that Nischal provided for them in that old age home. They equally enjoy the lectures that Nischal would give in the evenings in that old age home. ' Dusk ' is the story of old people, about their thinking, about their psychology, about their problems and in fact it is heart beat of old people.

Dusk Jun 20 2020 After you have sacrificed your freedom what else is there to lose? Mary Anne has given her word to Hunter that she'll stay as his mate, but every second she spends with him takes her further away from Gage when he needs her the most. Caught between love and duty, Mary Anne discovers that her troubles are just beginning, and that sometimes love comes at a great price. *New Adult Paranormal Romance*

Voyage of Rediscovery May 20 2020 In the summer of 1985, a mostly Hawaiian crew set out aboard Hokule'a, a reconstructed ancient double canoe, to demonstrate what skeptics had steadfastly denied: that their ancestors, sailing in such canoes and navigating solely by reading stars, ocean swells, and other natural signs, could intentionally have sailed across the Pacific, exploring the vast oceanic realm of Polynesia and discovering and settling all its inhabitable islands. Their round-trip odyssey from Hawai'i to Aotearoa (New Zealand), across 12,000 nautical miles, dramatically refuted all theories declaring that—because of their unseaworthy canoes and inaccurate navigational methods—the ancient Polynesians could only have been pushed accidentally to their islands by the vagaries of wind and current. Voyage of Rediscovery is a vivid, immensely readable account of this remarkable journey through the Pacific, including tales of a curiosity attack by sperm whales and the crew's welcome to Aotearoa by Maori tribesmen, who dubbed them their sixth tribe. It describes how Hawaiian navigator Nainoa Thompson guided the canoe over thousands of miles of open ocean without compass, sextant, charts, or any other navigational aids. In so doing, it documents the experimental voyaging approach, developed by Ben Finney, which has both transformed our ideas about Polynesian migration and voyaging and been embraced by present-day Polynesians as a way to experience and celebrate their rich ancestral heritage as premier seafarers. By sailing in the wake of their ancestors, the Hawaiians and other Polynesians who captained, navigated, and crewed Hokule'a made the journey described here a cultural as well as a scientific odyssey of exploration.

The City of Dusk Nov 18 2022 The realms are dying, and only the heirs can save the city - but at what cost. The Four Realms - Life, Death, Light, and Darkness - all converge on the city of dusk. For each realm there is a god, and for each god there is an heir. But the gods have withdrawn their favour from the once vibrant and thriving city. And without it, all the realms are dying. Unwilling to stand by and watch the destruction, the four heirs-Risha, a necromancer struggling to keep the peace; Angelica, an elemental with her eyes set on the throne; Taesia, a shadow-wielding rogue with rebellion in her heart; and Nik, a soldier who struggles to see the light- will sacrifice everything to save the city. But their defiance will cost them dearly. 'For Sim's most devoted fans' - Publishers Weekly 'A lot to love' - Kirkus Reviews Dusk & Rime Dec 27 2020 With magic ever dwindling and destabilizing, a prince leaves the plush safety of his childhood home to rectify all that is slowly going to ruin. An ancient evil threatens to sweep across the land, but no one can say how or when. To prevent this from happening in the midst of decay, a relic must be found to lay the eldritch nightmare to rest. This will be no easy task as the prince finds himself ever isolated and in unfamiliar territory, with little understanding of the world around him. Even if he succeeds, there is no guarantee his efforts can prevent madness incarnate from seizing power.

Dusk Sep 16 2022 "So many people wonder what love is or how far someone would truly go when in love. Well, I believe I just found out." It's a wonderful thing to find someone who truly loves you. It's a phenomenal thing to find someone who would do anything, risk anything for your happiness. That's something Ozario and Catalina has found. Ozario Cullen has lost his memory in exchange for his lover's, Catalina Yong's, life! How far she goes to return those memories is a tale for centuries to come. There is no greater tale than one that grows the way this one does and love the way Catalina and Ozario love each other. It's something worth celebrating, celebrating through the holidays in their shoes. Books: Silver Night Blue Moon Dusk PT1 Dusk PT2 Aurora Pt 1 Arora Pt2LifeP.S. Two books have been split since my time writing this series. So much is going on that it deserved the space and room. I don't want to overwhelm readers with a 900-page book, that's way too much. So, Dusk and Aurora have been split into two parts in order to resolve the story. Also, the cost is raised due to the printing cost that I cannot change based off images and the new style of paperback books. Thank you for choosing this story or simply considering it. I am grateful that you did. Have an awesome day.

Dusk of Dawn (The Oxford W. E. B. Du Bois) Apr 30 2021 W. E. B. Du Bois was a public intellectual, sociologist, and activist on behalf of the African American community. He profoundly shaped black political culture in the United States through his founding role in the NAACP, as well as internationally through the Pan-African movement. Du Bois's sociological and historical research on African-American communities and culture broke ground in many areas, including the history of the post-Civil War Reconstruction period. Du Bois was also a prolific author of novels, autobiographical accounts, innumerable editorials and journalistic pieces, and several works of history. Dusk of Dawn, published in 1940, is an explosive autobiography of the foremost African American scholar of his time. Du Bois writes movingly of his own life, using personal experience to elucidate the systemic problem of race. He reflects on his childhood, his education, and his intellectual life, including the formation of the NAACP. Though his views eventually got him expelled from the association, Du Bois continues to develop his thoughts on separate black economic and social institutions in Dusk of Dawn. Readers will find energetic essays within these pages, including insight into his developing Pan-African consciousness. With a series introduction by editor Henry Louis Gates, Jr., and an introduction by Kwame Anthony Appiah, this edition is essential for anyone interested in African American history.

Shapes That Haunt the Dusk Apr 11 2022 The writers of American short stories, the best short stories in the world, surpass in nothing so much as in their handling of those filmy textures which clothe the vague shapes of the borderland between experience and illusion. This is perhaps because our people, who seem to live only in the most tangible things of material existence, really live more in the spirit than any other. Their love of the supernatural is their common inheritance from no particular ancestry, but is apparently an effect from psychological influences in the past, widely separated in time and place. Memoirs from Mrs. Hudson's Kitchen Feb 26 2021 Mrs. Hudson is possibly the most famous landlady in literature. Presiding over the comings and goings at 221B Baker Street, she saw many clients, villains and Baker Street Irregulars during the tenancy of Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson. This series of columns, thoughts, recipes and memoirs are from a long-running column in the Sherlockian journal Canadian Holmes. In it the author, Wendy Heyman-Marsaw, puts herself in Mrs. Hudson ' s shoes, up and down the 17 steps, and recounts not only the time and era but the food, dining and eating habits of Victorian England. This book explores the meals Mrs. Hudson would have prepared and served her two famous lodgers, what food they would have had while on rail journeys or eaten at hotels around London or inns around England. You will also learn about Mrs. Hudson herself, her husband and even her views towards women ' s roles and rights in Victorian times. With many illustrations from the Strand Magazine, readers will get a rare peek inside Victorian life.

Path of Power Jan 08 2022 Harry Olferman de Jonge was born on the 21st of February 1989 and grew up in a small town in South Africa with his grandparents. Growing up he found he had a love for a good book, which sparked the obsessive collection of as many books as possible. Days and nights were spent in front of his beloved books, until the day came that he decided to take up the pen himself. And from that came the first of what is predicted to be hundreds of stories written by an author named H.O. de Jonge.

Dusk Nov 06 2021 Most skeptics, rationalists, atheists and freethinkers do not believe because the various God-claims of the world, made by dusty books dragged out of the Middle East, because they have not met the burden of proof. But what if someone found a book that contained within true scientific foreknowledge? Something that was not just evolutionary with regard to our knowledge of history and archaeology, but revolutionary? Something that presented evidence -- hard evidence -- that someone, somewhere, knew how the future was going to happen before it happened? What if that book foretold the dusk of humanity, the end of our light? A 3,000 word short story.

Dusk Deepens Apr 18 2020 For the first time in years there is peace in the political arena of Deteen. A beloved king sits on the throne, the famine has passed, the Allies of Staveen have successfully been fended off, and the people have been left with a bright sense of hope. Standing in stark contrast to his countrymen, there is no peace to be found for Mark Poynter. As he copes with the kidnap of his sister, Mark must now navigate through a world he no longer recognizes in order to find some stability. He knows that stability could be found if Hope were brought home. Then his mother would take them to her people -- that enigma he longs for every time the wind blows. But rescuing Hope will come at the terrible risk of trusting someone whose past betrayal was almost his undoing. Can he learn to forgive and trust again even though the stakes are higher than ever? Dusk is deepening, leaving Mark little time to decide what path he'll choose.

Tunes of Dusk Sep 23 2020 Niral Vasavada, an old fashioned woman of today decides that she finally met her match in her boss, Gio. And as she happily glides through her perfect life, things get confusing when her boss friend seems more interesting than her boss. Which feeling was lust and which one was true love? Is it possible for an Indian woman to take decisions solely to satisfy her sexual urges? She needs to question many things and more importantly she needs to find some answers. Dusk and Dawn Jan 28 2021 Ama, Kar, Zea and Mura decide to take a relaxing cruise. While doing so, they encounter a remarkable pair of twins, oddly named 'Dusk' and 'Dawn', who are so alike that no one can tell them apart. Unfortunately, the cruise soon turns into a disaster when everyone is swept overboard by a rogue wave. Struggling to survive, Kar, Ama and Zea search in vain for Mura and then strike out for the shore. Determined not to give up hope, they search the foreshore and are thankfully united with Mura and the twins. However, as soon as Mura is found, she disappears on one of her manic episodes and is discovered up a tree where she spots an enigmatic monolith. This sighting instigates an exploration of an ancient and dangerous mystery. By unravelling a series of puzzles, the intrepid explorers uncover a vanished civilization but, in so doing, they also unwittingly unleash a primordial horror which threatens to destroy not only themselves, but their entire world.

Dusk's Darkest Shores Jul 14 2022 How can a meek wallflower help a returning war hero whose dreams are plunged into darkness? Mary Bloomfield has no illusions. Her chances for matrimony have long since passed her by. Still, her circumstances are pleasant enough, especially now that she has found purpose in assisting her father with his medical practice in England's beautiful Lake District. Even without love, it's a peaceful life. That is until Adam Edgerton returns to the sleepy district. This decorated war hero did not arrive home to acclaim and rest, but to a new battle against the repercussions of an insidious disease. Mary's caring nature cannot stand to see someone suffer--but how can she help this man see any brightness in his future when he's plunged into melancholic darkness, his dreams laid waste by his condition? Adam wants no charity, but he's also no coward. If this gentle woman can work hard, how can he do less? Together they struggle to find a way forward for him. Frustration and antipathy slowly develop into friendship and esteem. Then a summer storm atop a mountain peak leads to scandal--and both Mary and Adam must search the depths of their closed hearts for answers if they hope to find any future path with happiness at its end. Best-selling author Carolyn Miller is back with a fresh series that will not only thrill readers eager for more of her work, but bring in new fans looking for beautiful writing, fascinating research, deftly woven love stories, and real faith lived out in the Regency period.

Murder at Dusk Jun 01 2021 Far away from any World War II battlefield, the citizens of Melbourne lived in fear of a serial killer - the Brownout Strangler. May 1942: Melbourne was torn between fearing Japanese invasion and revelling in the carnival atmosphere brought by the influx of 15,000 cashed-up American servicemen. But those US forces didn't guarantee safety. Not long after their arrival, the city would be gripped by panic when the body of a woman was found strangled, partially naked and brutally beaten. Six days later another woman was found dead and her body told the same horrific story. A murderer was stalking the streets. As women were warned not to travel alone, an intense manhunt ensued. Not long after a third woman was murdered, American soldier Eddie Leonski was arrested. A calculating psychopath, he had a twisted fascination with female voices, especially when they were singing . . . Acclaimed author Ian W. Shaw brings World War II Melbourne to life, and takes us into the mind of the Brownout Strangler, and a very different kind of terror. 'enthraling . . . makes for a fascinating read.' Canberra Times on Ian W. Shaw's The Rag Tag Fleet Riesling Rediscovered Jul 22 2020 "An authoritative reference that explores the range of practices and styles for making dry Riesling wines in Germany and globally (e.g. Alsace, Australia, Austria, Alto Adige, New Zealand, New York's Finger Lakes, Washington, etc.). Haeger delves into how history, law, geography, viticulture and winemaking techniques influence dry Riesling's expression worldwide. He mostly omits discussion of sweet Riesling"--Provided by publisher.

Exploration of the South Seas in the Eighteenth Century: Rediscovered Accounts, Volume I Oct 13 2019 The publication of key voyaging manuscripts has contributed to the flourishing of enduring and prolific worldwide scholarship across numerous fields. These navigators and their texts were instrumental in spurring on further exploration, annexation and ultimately colonisation of the Pacific territories in the space of only a few decades. This series will present new sources and primary texts in English, paving the way for postcolonial critical approaches in which the reporting, writing, rewriting and translating of Empire and the 'Other' takes precedence over the safeguarding of master narratives. Each of the volumes contains an introduction that sets out the context in which these voyages took place and extensive annotations clarify and explain the original texts. The first volume makes available Samuel Wallis' logs of the Dolphin's voyage 1766-68 in their original form for the first time. Captain Samuel Wallis was the first Englishman to come across the Tuamotus and the Society Isles in the South Pacific, specifically Tahiti. His writings predate the available textual sources by Louis-Antoine de Bougainville, the logs of the Spanish voyages and James Cook — whose text Wallis' prefigures. The three logs attest to the very first encounter between Europeans and Tahitians, but until now comparatively little research has been conducted on the more elaborate second volume and none on the first. The Polynesian archipelagos grew into objects of discourse over the years and Wallis' logs may very well be located at the heart of these evocative constructs.
