one side were Britain France and Turkey and on the other side was Russia. Causes of the war: the Crimean War 1853-56 is mostly remembered for three things: the Charge of the Light Brigade, mismanagement in the British Army, and Florence Nightingale. The war was fought between Russia and the allied powers of Britain, France, and Turkey. It began because of British and French distrust of Russia's ambitions in the Balkans. The Crimean War was a conflict fought between the Russian Empire against an alliance of French, British, Ottoman, and Sardinian troops. The war broke out in the autumn of 1853 and came to a conclusion in March 1856 with the Treaty of Paris. The Crimean War was a conflict resulting in a large death toll and for many had far-reaching consequences. On 17 March 2023, there were some cases where the Russians won a great victory, such as the Battle of the Great Redan, where 35,000 strong British forces lost against a 12,000 strong Russian force suffering 6,000 casualties to Russia's 1,500. There were some battles where the allied casualties were less than the Russians, such as Malakoff, Inkerman, and the Web. The Crimean War was a very important point in the history of warfare since new weapons were used; it was also the first war to be reported by the press via photography and journalists. Another very important factor was that it was the first war with real field hospitals, which were started by Florence Nightingale. The Crimean War was an imperial war fought on many fronts, including modern day
