Britain makes more money from music than from its car industry. In the United States the core copyright industries achieved foreign sales and exports of $60.18 billion - a figure which surpasses, for the first time, every other export sector, including automobiles, agriculture and aircraft. Howkins sets out to explore how we can harness creativity and the industry it sustains to our common interests. This book is not about information and the information society. It is about more basic matters, what we humans want and what we are good at. Understanding Foreign Policy Decision Making presents a psychological approach to foreign policy decision making. This approach focuses on the decision process, dynamics, and outcome. The book includes a wealth of extended real-world case studies and examples that are woven into the text. The cases and examples, which are written in an accessible style, include decisions made by leaders of the United States, Israel, New Zealand, Cuba, Iceland, United Kingdom, and others. In addition to coverage of the rational model of decision making, levels of analysis of foreign policy decision making, and types of decisions, the book includes extensive material on alternatives to the rational choice model, the marketing and framing of decisions, cognitive biases, and domestic, cultural, and international influences on decision making in international affairs. Existing textbooks do not present such an approach to foreign policy decision making, international relations, American foreign policy, and comparative foreign policy. Provides the first systematic analysis of new Asian regionalism as a paradigm shift in international economic law. Analysis on impact of globalization on national economic development and social welfare in the third world countries. The paper provides policy options as regards the traditional application of MFN treatment and identifies reactions by States to the unexpected broad use of MFN treatment, and provides several drafting options, such as specifying or narrowing down the scope of application of MFN treatment to certain types of activities, clarifying the nature of "treatment" under the IIA, clarifying the comparison that an arbitral tribunal needs to undertake as well as a qualification of the comparison "in like circumstances" or excluding its use in investor-State cases."--Provided by publisher. A twentieth-century innovation, foreign aid has become a familiar and even expected element in international relations. But scholars and government officials continue to debate why countries provide it: some claim that it is primarily a tool of diplomacy, some argue that it is largely intended to support development in poor countries, and still others point out its myriad newer uses. Carol Lancaster effectively puts this dispute to rest here by providing the most comprehensive answer yet to the question of why governments give foreign aid. She argues that because of domestic politics in aid-giving countries, it has always been—and will continue to be—used to achieve a mixture of different goals. Drawing on her expertise in both comparative politics and international relations and on her experience as a former public official, Lancaster provides five in-depth case studies—the United States, Japan, France, Germany, and Denmark—that demonstrate how domestic politics and international pressures combine to shape how and why donor governments give aid. In doing so, she explores the impact on foreign aid of political institutions, interest groups, and the ways governments organize their giving. Her findings provide essential insight for scholars of international relations and comparative politics, as well as anyone involved with foreign aid or foreign policy. Most people love nature and consider themselves environmentalists, but nature isn't just pretty and lovable, it is indispensable to our survival and economic activity. That is the most compelling reason for environmental protection. The conventional economic wisdom views land (natural capital) as a small part of the economy, along with capital, labor, technology and so on. The authors argue that this is backwards: that the economy nests within the environment (land) and not the other way around. The authors give a brief history of the origins of conventional economic wisdom and critique it from the standpoint of ecological economics. They explain what natural capital - our life support system - is and does, and describe the severe strains that have been put on it. They conclude with some policy options, such as green taxes and suggestions for personal action that would conserve natural capital and thus make conserve resources for present and future generations. Natural Capital and Human Economic Survival is written for environmentalists, environmental studies majors and anyone concerned about the flaws of mainstream economics - how it has led us into unsustainable ways of living - and who would like to learn about alternatives that are more sustainable. This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the 1st International Conference on Contemporary Risk Studies During COVID-19 Pandemic: Challenge and Opportunities (ICONICRS) 2022, held in Jakarta, Indonesia, in March – April 2022. During the past decade, ASEAN has shifted its focus from political and military security to economic co-operation and development. Although this change may ease the integration of the four mainland Southeast Asian nations -- Vietnam, Laos, Myanmar, and Cambodia into ASEAN, there remain significant challenges to forge a workable and united ten-member ASEAN. This book examines many of the economic, political, and institutional issues confronting the enlarged regional grouping. The volume is organized into three sections based on the perspectives of the region, subregion, and the newer members. It not only addresses ASEAN's enlargement but also contributes to the debate on ASEAN's shifting role in the twenty-first century. Dalam memasuki tahap keputusan pembelian sebelumnya konsumen sudah dihadapkan pada beberapa pilihan alternatif sehingga pada tahap ini konsumen akan melakukan aksi untuk memutuskan untuk membeli produk berdasarkan pilihan yang ditentukan. The emphasis on organizational change in the corporate life of recent years-including job redesign, autonomous groups, high performance work systems, and the redesign of control systems-owes a great deal to the pioneering work of Chris Argyris. This book examines how individuals in organizations can become more effective, in turn making organizations more effective. It explores the conventional pyramidal structure of organizations, in which there is top-down control by managers over workers, and examines their negative consequences. These include organizational injustice and eventually irrational decision-making. Argyris also discusses the characteristic learning system of the modern organization, which he describes as "single-loop" in character. This system, he argues, is only adequate enough to permit the organization to implement existing policies. It does not permit the more difficult and comprehensive task of questioning underlying goals and assumptions, which he terms "doubt loop" learning. In this kind of learning, the organization is able to confront the more difficult problems that affect organizations in a time of transition. In his new introduction, Argyris reviews the strengths and limitations of the argument advanced in "Integrating the Individual and the Organization." He describes why the pyramidal structure endures, and why creating a self-learning organization is an even more challenging task than he has imagined. The book will be of interest to professionals with a long-standing interest in organizational development as well as those just entering the field, managers confronting the challenge of organization change, and researchers in organizational behavior and theory. Diterbitkannya buku kumpulan karangan para dosen sangat penting untuk memperkaya mutu perkuliahan dan syukur apabila mampu mengkritisi serta memberikan alternatif solusi berbagai persoalan aktual ekonomi dan bisnis di Indonesia khususnya di era pandemi Covid-19. Saya berharap bahwa di era pandemi Covid-19 tatkala para dosen lebih banyak berada di rumah karena proses belajarmengajar dilakukan secara virtual (daring), para dosen lebih kreatif dan inovatif menerbitkan karya-karya ilmiahnya. Dengan demikian, mempublikasikan karyakarya ilmiah bagi para dosen sesungguhnya merupakan sebuah keharusan, bukan semata-mata karena memperingati dies natalis. Saya juga berharap agar apa yang dilakukan oleh FEB UWG untuk menerbitkan buku kumpulan karya dosen dapat diikuti oleh para dosen di fakultas-fakultas yang lain The 1934 State of the Union Address was given by the 32nd president of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was the first State of the Union address to be given in January. Excerpt: "Now that we are definitely in the process of recovery, lines have been rightly drawn between those to whom this recovery means a return to old methods—and the number of these people is small—and those for whom recovery means a reform of many old methods, a permanent readjustment of many of our ways of thinking and therefore of many of our social and economic arrangements... " Dalam era sekarang ini, hubungan antarbangsa/manusia juga sangat berkembang sejalan dengan pembangunan infrastruktur. Keduanya sama-sama membangun konektivitas. Namun infrastruktur hubungan budaya belum dikembangkan, baik oleh Tiongkok maupun negara yang diajak bekerja sama, termasuk Indonesia. Akibatnya adalah kendala hubungan, image negatif, dan penolakan antara Tiongkok dengan ASEAN atau dengan Indonesia, maupun dengan negara lain yang menjadi masalah dan kerap terjadi. Oleh karena itu, dalam memahami karakteristik heterogen yang komprehensif dari masyarakat Indonesia (atau negara lain di Asia Tenggara) adalah dengan meningkatkan hubungan antar manusia. Selain itu, hubungan sosial budaya harus diperkuat, salah satunya dengan pembelajaran antarbudaya (intercultural learning), arena ide konektivitas bukan hanya fisik namun juga manusia. Indonesia dalam hal ini perlu memperkuat hubungan antarmanusia dan kerja sama sosial budaya melalui kegiatan non-infrastruktur, semisal pertukaran pendidikan, kunjungan keagamaan, festival budaya, kerja sama film, membangun/investasi di pedesaan, yang mana akan bermanfaat dan mendapat respons dari masyarakat ketimbang pembangunan infrastruktur besar tapi tidak mengakar ke masyarakat. Setiap tulisan dalam buku ini berusaha dihadirkan secara berhubungan satu sama lain. Harapannya, buku ini dapat memberikan pemahaman kepada pembacanya mengenai China BRI secara umum dari aspek sosial, ekonomi, politik, dan budaya yang berkaitan dengan program kerja sama BRI. Besar harapan penulis agar buku ini memberikan pengetahuan dan informasi bermanfaat bagi pembacanya yang berminat pada studi China BRI baik kalangan masyarakat umum, akademisi, maupun pelajar. Jika ada pertanyaan, apakah mungkin karya-karya dari leluhur bangsa dapat dijadikan fondasi paradigma pendidikan Islam? Jawabannya iya sangat mungkin. Kita harus punya suara dalam menafsirkan kearifan bangsa sebagaimana negara-negara lain menafsirkan kearifan bangsanya. Bahkan Imam Al-Ghazali, panutan ulama kita, dipengaruhi oleh kultur dan peradaban Persia, karena memang beliau adalah orang Persia. Imam Al-Ghazali mengagumi karakter pemimpin mereka yang adil, yaitu Raja Anusyarwan, yang hidup dan berkuasa di masa Rasulullah Saw terlahir ke dunia. Dalam satu karyanya tentang etika politik berjudul at-Tibru-I-Masbuk fi Nashihati-l-Muluk, menampilkan Raja Persia itu sebagai suri Teladan bagi umat Islam karena keadilannya. Bayangkan, ini adalah ulama selevel Imam Al-Ghazali sendiri yang menampilkan ilmu Persianya, ilmu negerinya, dalam membicarakan etika dan moral politik. Pengalaman Persia yang memiliki pengalaman keadilan dalam politik juga patut disuarakan karena memang sesuai dengan misi Islam di dunia, yakni menyebarkan keadilan dan kebaikan (Islam rahmatan lil'alam). Nah, dari sini dapat dipahami bahwa mengapa ulama-ulama kita, raja-raja nusantara dulu, menampilkan ilmu nusantara, suara-suara peradaban nusantara untuk diangkat dalam membicarakan berbagai persoalan kehidupan, salah satunya adalah pendidikan. Is China a rogue donor, as some media pundits suggest? Or is China helping the developing world pave a pathway out of poverty, as the Chinese claim? In the last few years, China's aid program has leapt out of the shadows. Media reports about huge aid packages, support for pariah regimes, regiments of Chinese labor, and the ruthless exploitation of workers and natural resources in some of the poorest countries in the world sparked fierce debates. These debates, however, took place with very few hard facts. China's tradition of secrecy about its aid fueled rumors and speculation, making it difficult to gauge the risks and opportunities provided by China's growing embrace. This well-timed book, by one of the world's leading experts, provides the first comprehensive account of China's aid and economic cooperation overseas. Deborah Brautigam tackles the myths and realities, explaining what the Chinese are doing, how they do it, how much aid they give, and how it all fits into their "going global" strategy. Drawing on three decades of experience in China and Africa, and hundreds of interviews in Africa, China, Europe and the US, Brautigam shines new light on a topic of great interest. China has ended poverty for hundreds of millions of its own citizens. Will Chinese engagement benefit Africa? Using hard data and a series of vivid stories ranging across agriculture, industry, natural resources, and governance, Brautigam's fascinating book provides an answer. It is essential reading for anyone concerned with China's rise, and what it might mean for the challenge of ending poverty in Africa. Around 1796, Mr. Malthus, an English gentleman, had finished reading a book that confidently predicted human life would continue to grow richer, more comfortable and more secure, and that nothing could stop the march of progress. He discussed this theme with his son, Thomas, and Thomas ardently disagreed with both his father and the book he had been reading, along with the entire idea of unending human progress. Mr. Malthus suggested that he write down his objections so that they could discuss them point-by-point. Not long after, Thomas returned with a rather long essay. His father was so impressed that he urged his son to have it published. And so, in 1798, appeared An Essay on Population. Though it was attacked at the time and ridiculed for many years afterward, it has remained one of the most influential works in the English language on the general checks and balances of the world's population and its necessary control. Originally two volumes, it is presented here in an omnibus edition. THOMAS ROBERT MALTHUS (1766-1834) was educated at Jesus College in Cambridge. In 1798, he was curate at Albury in Surrey, and became a Professor of History and Political Economy at Haileybury College, 1805. Buku ini terdiri dari enam BAB dan berisi sekitar 42 halaman yang masing-masing bab/bagian berisi informasi mengenai gizi lansia terkait dengan definisi , penilaian status gizi, faktor-faktor yang berhubungan dengan status gizi, dan kebutuhan gizi bagi lansia. Status Gizi Lansia ini diterbitkan oleh Penerbit Deepublish dan tersedia juga dalam versi cetak It is vital for organisations to use company analysis to gain understanding of their limiting and enabling factors and strategic capabilities. Profits can then be maximised by selecting the most effective strategies, and through successful implementation of mergers, acquisitions and divestment opportunities. In this book Jenster and Hussey move away from the opinion based SWOT analysis commonly used, to provide a more objective step-by-step approach to objectively analysing an organisation. This important task is clearly explained, with information helpfully displayed in diagrams, and checklists of critical questions provided. In addition to the key, functional areas of management, corporate-wide approaches such as core competencies, critical success factors, industry analysis and the value chain are also examined. The book is illuminated with examples from the authors' own experiences, resulting in a practical and effective approach which will provide a foundation for corporate strategy and add a strategic dimension to a due diligence study - and so prove invaluable to MBA students and lecturers in strategic management. Every manager will be asked to participate in assessing strengths and weaknesses at some time in their career, and this book enables a considerable improvement to be made to many commonly used methods - and for those responsible for the development of strategies, it offers even more. Contextual teaching and learning (CTL) is a system for teaching that is grounded in brain research. Brain research indicates that we learn best when we see meaning in new tasks and material, and we discover meaning when we are able to connect new information with our existing knowledge and experiences. Students learn best, according to neuroscience, when they can connect the content of academic lessons with the context of their own daily lives. Johnson discusses the elements of the brain-compatible contextual teaching and learning system: making meaningful connections; investing school work with significance; self-regulated learning; collaboration; critical and creating thinking; nurturing the individual; reaching high standards; and using authentic assessment. Drawing on the practices of teachers in kindergarten through university, Johnson provides numerous examples of how to use each part of the CTL system.
