IBM DB2 Series This report describes the production of ERM-DB001, powdered human hair material certified for the mass fraction of the total content of As, Cd, Cu, Hg, Pb, Se and Zn. The material was produced following ISO Guide 34:2009. An amount of approximately 8 kg of uncoloured, untreated human hair was collected in the Northeast of Belgium and processed at IRMM (BE) under stringent conditions in order to produce a certified reference material (CRM) of human hair powder. Between-unit heterogeneity was quantified as well as stability during dispatch and storage in accordance with ISO Guide 35:2006. Within-unit heterogeneity was also assessed to determine the minimum sample intake. The material was characterised by an inter-comparison among laboratories of demonstrated competence and adhering to ISO/IEC 17025:2005. Technically invalid results were removed but no outlier was eliminated on statistical grounds only. Uncertainties of the certified values were calculated in compliance with the Guide to the Expression of Uncertainty in Measurement (GUM) including uncertainty contribution related to possible heterogeneity and instability of the material as well as to the characterisation study. The material is intended for quality control and assessment of method performance. As any reference material, it can also be used for control charts or validation studies. The CRM is available in amber glass bottles containing ca. 3.5 g of dried and powdered human hair, placed in aluminium sachet closed under argon atmosphere. The minimum sample intake for ERM-DB001 is 200 mg for As, Cd, Cu, Pb, Se and Zn and 10 mg for Hg. The CRM has been accepted as European Reference Material (ERM®) after peer evaluation by the partners of the European Reference Materials consortium. This report describes the certification of a mussel tissue (mytilus edulis) reference material intended to replace the exhausted CRM BCR-278(1) (trace elements in mussel tissue). Reference Material CRM BCR-287 is now certified as ERM-CE278. It describes the homogeneity and stability studies and the analytical work performed for the certification of the mass fraction of nine trace elements.
